Subject: YOU ARE SPECIAL!

Dear Lynda,

You are special – very special!

I hope you think of this often during the holidays.

Nothing that has occurred in your life changes the fact that you are special and deserving.

It doesn't matter what anyone else says or thinks about you (or even what you think about yourself during critical moments).

What matters is the basic fact that you are special – very special.

And once you feel special – deep inside – you will naturally cause those around you to feel special.

Then you are giving others an amazing gift just by their being in your life.

If you feel you are special, you naturally cause others to feel special.

How delightful to be around someone like that.

Trust me - - you are special and deserving.

Create a “special” holiday for yourself and others this month.

With Love & Mastery,

Sasha Xarrian
